

Blake Kennan is leading his team to the World Series. He's become an overnight success as a catcher on the way to his first MVP award. His wife doesn't understand him and he's not sure he still loves her. Then he suffers a life-threatening injury that leaves him paralyzed, half-blind and with a loss of memory. Can he find his way back to love?